Girton College was founded October 16th, 1869, at Hitchin, the institution, however, being removed in 1873 to Girton, a village about two miles from the market place of Cambridge. The College buildings are of red brick, and were designed by Mr. Waterhouse. The founders were Madame Bodichon, Miss Emily Davies, and Henrietta, Countess of Alderley, and the educational facilities of the College are only open to women.
